RELATED EXPERIENCE

2011-Present - Freelance Photographer/Videographer

Since I graduated college, I have been doing most of the freelancing photography or videography jobs that come my way. I have been full time freelance and also part time while juggling other steady jobs. Doing this kind of work has taught me to be incredibly schedule oriented. I have learned to be proficient in each part of creating a video; from the pre production to the final product. Networking and communicating with clients are social skills that have always come easy to me and I've seen firsthand their importance in the film community.

2013-2016/Present - Indie Memphis Film Festival - Photography Coordinator

I've been involved with the festival since 2012 when I acted as a volunteer photographer. After that year, I was asked to be the Photography Coordinator. My responsibilities for this role include work before the festival finding photographers to volunteer and also guaranteeing that every important event at the festival is photographed by creating a schedule for each photographer. My longtime involvement with the festival has fostered a rooted relationship with the festival and the Memphis film community.

Spring 2013 - Cornerstone Preparatory School - Assistant Art Teacher

The grade levels were Kindergarten through 5th grade. I assisted the lead art teacher by helping maintain classroom behavior, answer student questions, and give instructions. Being organized was important to this job in order to keep all the different classes supplies and artwork separate.
